HOWICK

Report by Neil Allen

A friendly gathering of flyers enjoyed the day. With seven entries we were able to fly four rounds, at least those people could who had not used up all their batteries in earlier practice. Howick has a lovely grass field, well maintained by Clive and his fellows. He also did us our lunchtime braai.

In Sportsman Angus flew the only noisy plane, and got a creditable score over the 60% that is a sort of target to hit.

In Advanced we were please to have Ian Morris joining us again, with his attractive Mythos 110. Arthur Eggar also flew a Mythos, this time a 2m version, and racked up a 60% average, after getting a bit off line in the rolls in earlier rounds. Arthur Coleby completed the line up of models from the same company, with a Wind_110.

In the Masters class, two of us got over the 60% figure. Clive was seen waving a stick plane around in the pits just before he flew, to work out what shape the manouvers were that he had to fly!

Mark probably needed a bit more time with that same stick model, as he did a few strange stunts all of his own invention. Some of them the judges saw, and some they didn't.

For judges we missed Bruce Clark, who is recovering from a very unexpected stroke. The good news is that he has had an incredibly good recovery, and we hope to have him back with us one day. Our stalwart, Des Cooper, was there as always, and we were delighted to have Ian Morris judging again for the Masters class.
